Source4Teachers Pledges Support to End Bullying through Kidsbridge Tolerance Museum Walk2Stop Bullying

Cherry Hill, N.J. – Source4Teachers, a national educational staffing solutions firm based in Cherry Hill, N.J., recently pledged its support to the Second Annual Kidsbridge Walk2Stop Bullying on Sunday, June 2, 2013. In addition to presenting Kidsbridge with a check for $2,500, Source4Teachers will organize a team of walkers to participate in the Walk.

Created by the Kidsbridge Tolerance Museum, located on The College of New Jersey's campus, the Walk2Stop Bullying is designed to bring the community together in solidarity against bullying. Funds from the Walk will also benefit Kidsbridge's impactful and targeted programs that teach strategies to combat bullying and cyberbullying.

"Bullying and cyberbullying are important issues that affect students and educators nationwide. As a leading provider of educational staffing solutions, Source4Teachers is vested in putting an end to such issues so students and teachers can focus on what's important: quality learning experiences in safe, comfortable environments," said Kevin Bush, President, Source4Teachers.

Kidsbridge Tolerance Museum's interactive exhibits teach children to combat prejudice, discrimination, stereotypes, name-calling and bullying through respect, empathy and compassion. More than 2,000 students and educators visit the Museum each year.
