Source4Teachers Helps Raise $50,000 for Camden Schools Foundation's 8th Annual Golf Tournament Fundraiser

CHERRY HILL, N.J. (July 24, 2013) - Source4Teachers, a national educational staffing solutions firm, recently supported the Camden Board of Education Foundation's 8th Annual Golf Tournament Fundraiser at Pennsauken Country Club. Kevin Bush, president of Source4Teachers and chairman of the golf event, helped raise over $50,000 to provide scholarships for college-bound seniors.

"Our focus is on providing quality, cost-effective solutions to support school districts' needs. In addition to helping lay the educational foundation for K-12 students, we also realize the importance of continuing their education," said Kevin Bush, president, Source4Teachers and chairman of this year's Golf Tournament Fundraiser. "By working with the Camden Schools Foundation, we hope to support the higher education goals of promising students within Camden City Schools."

Camden Schools Foundation is a nonprofit organization that supports scholarships and cultural experiences for children in Camden schools. Over the past eight years, the Foundation has funded a number of enriching programs for Camden students including cultural exchange trips, student achievement dinners, college scholarships and more. They hope to continue to fund college scholarships along with rehabilitating the Camden High School football field.
